APPLICATIONS TO BE ACCEPTED FOR LOW INCOME ENERGY ASSISTANCE PROGRAM

HICKORY -- Catawba County residents may apply for the Low Income Energy Assistance Program (LIEAP) at the Salvation Army in Hickory.

First priority (an earlier application period) will be given to households with at least one elderly or disabled person. Everyone must apply in the county where they live.

There have been several recent changes to the program. Everyone who wishes to receive help paying their heating bill through this program must apply. Households will no longer receive a check. Instead, payments will be sent directly to the primary heating provider, such as the electric, gas, or heating oil company.

The first priority in distributing these funds will go to households that include a person who is 60 or above, or at least one person who is disabled (receiving disability benefits from SSI, SSA or VA disability payment) and receiving services from the Division of Aging and Adult Services.

These households may apply if they have a monthly gross income of 130 percent or less of the current poverty level. For example, households with one member must have a gross income (before deductions) of $1,180 or less. For two persons, the income limit is $1,594. For three persons, it is $2,009. For four persons, it is $2,422. For five persons, $2,835. For six persons, $3,250. For seven persons, $3,663. For eight persons, $4,077. First-priority households may apply starting Dec. 3.

Starting Feb. 1, other households with the same income levels may apply for LIEAP assistance, if funds are still available. The final date to apply for assistance is March 29.

To apply, you must bring verification that you meet these criteria to the Salvation Army. You should bring identification, verification of income/resources and your most current heating bill. Those applying under the early deadline must also bring proof of age, disability, and services received from the Division of Aging and Adult Services.
