It's always a pleasure to announce new services that library patrons can enjoy. Four new online resources are being offered free through the library website: www.catawbacountync.gov/library .

Books and Authors is the go-to-place for finding good books. Readers looking for a good book to read next will enjoy using this tool to browse books by genre (mystery, history, etc.) as well as author, title and "read-alikes." Look here to be matched with an author who writes similarly to ones you already enjoy. Here's your chance to fall in love with a new author! What's more, Books and Authors isn't for adults only. This site lets readers browse books suitable for infants up to and including Pulitzer Prize winners.

Chilton Online isn't as entertaining as "Car Talk," but it's a good substitute for auto repair instructions. This site goes beyond the standard Chilton Auto Repair manual to provide videos, audios and access to information about the most recent vehicle models.

Job hunters and those wanting to move along a career path should check Career Transitions. This portal offers powerful information and videos on topics and tasks including career overviews, resume tips and simulated interviews.

Meanwhile, North Carolina Legal Forms gives up-to-the-minute information suitable for North Carolina residents pertaining to legal issues involving personal loans, real estate, divorce and more.

All four sources are accessible on-line at the library, at home or mobile devices on the go. Questions about these data bases? Just ask a staff member at your local branch.
