Greetings from the President

Greetings, Friends!

This issue is a tribute to the impact you're making in the community. Just try to find a page without joy all over it! As far as I'm concerned, the "most wonderful time of the year" has spilled over into 2026.

Happy New Year, by the way! It is time to start looking forward to some important changes on the horizon. At our last meeting we made some progress on adding board members and finding a team to take over Ellen's role as publicity chair.

Our next step is to consider candidates to take over my position starting this summer, when my term as president ends. Ideally, we can identify a capable (and willing) person soon so that the transition will be seamless. So please let me know if you're interested!

In the meantime, enjoy the joy in the pages below.

Cheers, Erica

A Heartfelt Thank You for a Wonderful Holiday Event!

Our recent holiday event was a tremendous success, bringing the community together in a joyful celebration of the season. Laughter, creativity, and holiday cheer filled the day — all thanks to our amazing volunteers. Over 90 children and their families joined us at the Sherrills Ford – Terrell Library, making the event a truly memorable experience.

Special thanks to Ellen Dewey for promoting the event, managing registration, and processing images for the newsletter.

Thanks to Barbara MacArthur and Christine Rupolo for preparing crafts, books, and treats.

Jeannette Dolan transformed the community room into a magical space for Santa's visit, with the help of Emily Huling, Kathryn Baranackie, and Barbara MacArthur.

Thank you to Sheryl Schuhose and Martha Petterez for warmly welcoming guests at registration.

A very special thank you to Hallie Chitwood for assisting Santa, creating unforgettable moments for so many children.

The children's book table was a highlight thanks to Trish Flanagan, Dick Steffens, Lisa Yakovenko, Tina Huber, Pat Elston, and Charlene Callahan, whose kindness made choosing a book a joyful experience.

Our Friendly Krafts-4-Kids were made possible by Barbara MacArthur, Christine Rupolo, Tina Huber, and Kathy Bradham. The kits included special Kwanza and Hanukkah crafts. Barbara MacArthur and Anne Smith helped children select their craft kits.

Thanks to Erica Batten and Kathryn Baranackie for helping Jeannette Dolan with games in the community room.

At the ornament-making table, Donna and Chris Korte and MaryBeth DiBernard guided kids in creating keepsakes, bringing pride and joy to every child.

Musical magic came from David Couch and Angela Couch, whose piano selections filled the room with festive spirit.

Finally, Shelley Orr and Melissa Housel and their team provided invaluable support and organization, keeping everything running smoothly from start to finish.

To all our volunteers — your time, creativity, and generosity made this holiday event truly special for our community.

The Scenes of the Season Beckoned with Holiday Greetings

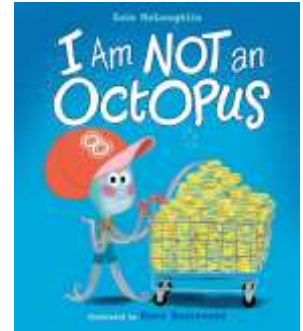

In December, Santa's elves were busy decorating the library entrance and all the holiday images provided an exciting walk to the Family Holiday Event. Thanks to those elves (you know who you are!) for a warm experience on a frosty night!

January's Krafts-4-Kids Makes an Octopus!

The Friendly Krafts-4-Kids Kommittee goes underwater for January's kit—Make Your Own Octopus! Using just a paper plate, eight streamers and a little glue, a multi-colored cephalopod will emerge. Though at first glance an unlikely subject, the octopus stars in a number of our library offerings.

I am Not an Octopus, by Eoin McLaughlin and illustrated by Marc Boutavant, is about Terry—a character with eight arms—who insists he is not an octopus, despite his love for tuna and his fear of water. The story follows Terry as he confronts his fear of the water and learns to swim, ultimately accepting his true identity as an octopus in a tale about bravery and self-acceptance.

Octopus Alone, by Divya

Srinivasan, is about a shy octopus who enjoys her quiet time away from the busy reef. But she eventually realizes she misses her friends and returns home, learning that being alone and being with others are both valuable. The book, praised for its beautiful illustrations and empathetic story, explores themes of introversion and finding balance. The kits are available in the library, but they disappear quickly!

Bandys High School Art Works on Display until January 15th

If you take even a casual glance at the artwork now on display—both 2- and 3-dimensional, you will certainly take a second look!

From Evelyn Campbell and Pat Elston:

We are pleased to announce that the Bandys High School student art work is now on display at the library.

From pastel drawings, to charcoal sketches, oil and acrylic paintings and mixed media sculptures, the display is amazing. It is clear that art teachers Ms. Marcie Foster & Ms. Jessica VanEseltine have worked hard with students—from beginners to advanced—to create such masterpieces. This Art Exhibition is on display until January 15th.

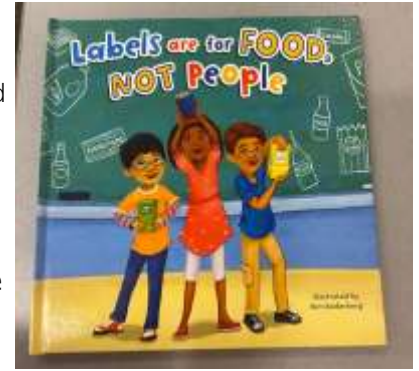

See just a small selection of these students' creations on the following pages.

Literacy Team Visits Three Elementary Schools

Labels are for Food, Not for People, by Little Hippo Books, was well received by students and teachers in the 16 first-grade classrooms at Sherrills Ford, Catawba, and Balls Creek elementary schools. The book reinforces the need to support others, not judge or criticize, when classmates make a mistake, eat a different food, or take longer to learn something.

To reinforce positive personal traits, the students wrote down kindness qualities on the petals of a poinsettia. All of the volunteers were impressed with the students' writing, spelling and understanding of what it takes to be a good person.

Our December reading team included Colette Suntum, Debbie Brignoli, Beth DeMauro, Catherine Webb, Debbie Zilli, and Emily Huling. Charlene Callahan prepared the craft materials.

We need more volunteers for our growing first-grade literacy program!
If you are interested in learning more about our program, please contact:
