HELP US GIVE THANKS RIGHT NOW AND INTO THE FUTURE

The Catawba County Library believes that lifelong learning should be accessible to everyone, and we create welcoming environments to ensure that every county resident is at ease in our branches. To help raise the level of comfort, we're bringing back our Food for Fines forgiveness program, effective November 11-30, 2019.

We're inviting patrons to pay their library-related fines with non-perishable goods. (The exchange rate is one food item for each dollar in fines that is owed.) Fines will be waived on any overdue materials that a patron returns, no matter how long the materials have been out. The exception: Donated food cannot be used to pay for lost or damaged items.

Our primary hope is to gather plenty of nutrient-rich foods that promote healthy living for both adults and children, a goal that comes through the Catawba County Health Partners' Give Healthy Initiative. Donations will benefit residents served by the food pantries of Catawba County Public Health and Catawba County Social Services.

Acceptable donations should fall within the expiration date indicated on the packaging. Ideal choices include canned meats, soups, canned vegetables and fruits, boxed cereals, grits, dried beans, rice, pasta, pasta sauce, baby food, Jell-O, jams, and small bags of flour or sugar. Ready-to-eat items and individual servings in pop-top cans are also desirable, along with items that don't require refrigeration or cooking, like peanut butter, crackers, and single-serve fruit cups.

Patrons who don't currently have overdue materials are also encouraged to participate in our food collection efforts, which will help local food pantries build up their stocks for our neighbors in need.

If you have any questions about the Food for Fines program, please call 828.465.8664.

WHAT'S YOUR DREAM FOR THE LIBRARY?

We've begun strategic planning! This initiative gathers lots of information from residents and professionals that will help us create and implement a vision for how the Catawba County Library can better serve our community in the future.

How can we better deliver what people need in terms of early literacy, career training, health and wellness programs, technology assistance, digital resources, lifelong learning, and more?

We're also re-imagining how our spaces can be more useful, relevant, and inviting for people of all ages and interests. And we need your help!

Next month, we'll be hosting community listening sessions on Tuesday, December 10 and Thursday, December 12 at 6 pm at the Main Library in Newton. Mark your calendars, and come share your thoughts and hopes for what the library can be!
